Will Accept POW's Who Reconsidered, But May Try Them

EMERGENCY PRESS HEADQUARTERS, Operation Alert (AP) — American war prisoners who chose to stay in Communist China after the Korea War will be held accountable, if they now return home, "for any wrongful act" they may have committed.

The U.S. government made this clear Thursday in announcing it will arrange for a return to the United States of any of the 20 prisoners who changes his mind about communism and arranges to present himself to American authorities.

There has never been any indication, however, whether Red rulers would release former POWs who once apparently chose communism but now want to reject it.

The American statement of policy on the ticklish issue followed reports that at least two — and perhaps eight — of the former POWs have had enough of Red China and want to come home.

The statement was issued jointly by the White House and the State, Defense and Justice departments. It was released from "emergency" government headquarters.

Altogether, 23 American POWs refused to return to U. S. control after the Korean armistice. Two of them, Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson of Cracker's Neck, Va., and Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor of Kermitt, Texas, changed their minds while under neutral custody during a "waiting period." The other 21 eventually were turned over to the Communists. One died later.

Both Dickenson and Batchelor, after their return to American custody, were convicted by court-martial of collaborating with the enemy and were sentenced to prison—10 years for Dickenson and 20 years for Batchelor.

Dickenson's appeal from two lower military courts will be heard Friday by the U. S. Court of Military Appeals.

There is a controversial legal question as to whether any of the other 20 POWs may be tried under the uniform Code of Military Justice since they have been given dishonorable discharges.

Relatives recently reported receiving letters indicating that two former POWs, Cpl. Otto G. Bell of Olympia, Wash., and Cpl. Lewis W. Griggs of Jacksonville, Tenn., now want to return home. Relatives of six other former POWs have reported letters indicating they, too, want to return home some time in the future.

U.S. Correspondent, 13 Others Killed In Crash

ASUNCION, Paraguay (P) — U.S. Correspondent John Graham Dowling and 13 other persons were killed or left unaccounted for in the crash of a Panair do Brasil airplane in a fog early Thursday. Only 10 aboard are known to have survived.

The four-engine Constellation, nearing the end of a 6,800-mile flight from London to Buenos Aires, cracked up and exploded at the village of Cuatro Mojones shortly before 2 a.m. It apparently was letting down for its landing at Asuncion, in the Paraguay River valley only five miles away.

Dowling, 41, was on the way from Sao Paulo, Brazil, to Buenos Aires, where he was Time magazine's bureau chief. The veteran newsman was the son of a theatrical couple, actor Eddie Dowling and comedienne Raye Dooley Dowling.

Dowling was one of 14 passengers. Seven were listed as escaping with injuries.

Aside from the fog — thick over the whole Asuncion area — there was no indication of what caused the accident. The plane had touched down in Paris, Lisbon, Dakar, Recife, Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo on the trip from London.

MAY REQUIRE SKID ROW HOTELS TO HAVE SPRINKLER SYSTEMS

CHICAGO (P) — The City Council referred to its Building and Zoning Committee Thursday a proposal to compel skid row hotels to have automatic sprinkler systems as fire protection.

The proposal was contained in an amendment to the city code. It was introduced by Aldermen P. J. Cullerton (D) and Emil V. Pacini (D).

They said it was designed to prevent disasters like the recent series of fires in cheap hotels that have taken 51 lives in four months. The amendment would require that the systems be installed by Jan. 1, 1956, in all but fireproof hotels.

13 Die As British Sub Sinks After Torpedo Rips Bow

PORTLAND, England (P) — Explosion of a practice torpedo tore open the front end of the British submarine Siron in Portland's harbor Thursday and sank her with 13 officers and men. All hope for the 13 was abandoned Thursday night.

For seven hours Royal Navy rescue experts worked in an effort to find any who might have survived both the blast and the engulfing waters 36 feet down. Then they gave up. There were no signs of life aboard.

Seven other crewmen escaped with slight injuries seconds after the explosion in the starboard torpedo room tore apart the forward section of the 1,000-ton craft, sent yellow smoke billowing from the conning tower and rocked this south coast naval base.

The Siron was moored at the time alongside the supply ship Maidstone. She was preparing to leave the harbor on torpedo firing exercises.

PERON MEETS WITH OFFICIALS — Argentine President Juan D. Peron rubs his hands before him as he meets with government officials to inspect damages allegedly caused by Catholic demonstrators in Congress building in Buenos Aires. The Peron government has arrested two top leaders of the Roman Catholic Church and is considering the impeachment of a Catholic Supreme Court Justice, it was reported.

State Assembly OK's Redistricting Measure

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (P) — The Illinois General Assembly completed action on legislative reapportionment Thursday and sent the bill to Gov. Stratton.

When the governor signs it, it will give the state its first new legislative districts since 1901.

The troublesome issue, which dogged the Assembly most of the current six-month session, cleared the last barrier when the House and Senate adopted the joint conference committee report affecting three northwestern Illinois Senate districts.

The Senate did it reluctantly, with many members voicing resentment over the House's making a change in the proposed Senate districts. But they agreed that unless they accepted the change, the Legislature might become deadlocked over remapping.

Under the bill, 59 House and 58 Senate districts will be set up to replace the existing 51 districts covering both branches. Downstate will hold a 34 to 24 edge over Cook County in the Senate but Cook County will control the House by 90 to 87.

The revisions will go into actual operation when legislators are nominated and elected next year. Remapping was required by the state constitutional amendment adopted in a statewide referendum last year.

The change in the three northwestern Senate districts which caused a last-minute fuss was made by the House two weeks ago at the insistence of Rep. George Brydia (R-Prophetstown). It puts Rock Island, Mercer and Henderson counties in the 53rd District; DeKalb, Lee and Whiteside in the 35th and Knox and Warren into the 57th District.

Sen. Morris Muhleman (R-Rock Island), who had fought against the Brydia amendment, yielded Thursday and said he was doing it in the interest of getting the bill.

TWO DEAD, ONE IN CRITICAL CONDITION AFTER 2-CAR CRASH

JANESVILLE, Wis. (P) — Two persons were injured fatally and another hurt critically Wednesday night in a two-car collision on Highway 14 near Leyden. Ernest L. Calvin, 50, of Orfordville, Wis., was killed when the car he was driving collided with one driven by Mrs. Annatol Popow, 32, of Crystal Lake, Ill. Mrs. Herbert Jurman, 50, also of Crystal Lake, a passenger in Mrs. Popow's car, died a few hours later at a Janesville hospital, where Mrs. Popow was reported in critical condition.

Ike Declares 'Martial Law;' Nation Reels Under 'Attack'

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
EMERGENCY PRESS HEADQUARTERS, Operation Alert (AP) — President Eisenhower ordered "martial law" Thursday for a nation pretending reeling but recovering from the crippling devastation of nuclear warfare.

In a secret underground Pentagon in the mountains, Eisenhower and his top advisers on security and defense sized up reports of unexpectedly heavy "damage" from Wednesday's mock bombings. Then they went over patch-up steps to be taken if this were a real instead of an imaginary crisis.

And in 31 hideouts radiating 300 miles from a Washington in theoretical "shambles" 15,000 uprooted government officials and employees began pumping out theoretical orders designed to put the country back in fighting trim.

Occasionally, too, this test run for possible things to come was shunted aside for the actual current business of government. Eisenhower, for example, kept posted on the revolt in Argentina. Mainly, from the chief executive down through the chain of command, the concern of the moment was the staggering aftermath of Wednesday's massive, fictitious enemy air strikes at 61 crucial American cities.

Confronting them were such unprecedented though make-believe problems as what to do about:

Millions of dead and injured and millions more in immediate need of shelter, food, and funds.

Water, supplies, crops and people dusted by radioactive fallout sucked up from the crumbled remnants of New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Detroit and other hydrogen-bombed cities.

Even before the President huddled at the emergency Pentagon with members of his National Security Council, he decided a mock state of martial law was "essential to the national interest" until Congress could "come into session and normal channels of government control and action be re-established."

This "Operation Alert, 1955," was a twin test of the readiness of civil defense and the ability of the government to operate and carry on from isolated retreats if an attack came now.

Newsman were unable to learn the cost of the three-day exercise. Asst. Presidential Press Secretary Murray Snyder said each agency taking part is absorbing the cost in his own budget and nobody had time to add up the bills. Unofficial cost estimates range upward of $500,000.

The civil defense phase ended at 2 p. m. Thursday. In a sum-up statement, Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson said that simulated emergency needs were being met gradually but satisfactorily.

The special committee acted to determine what guidance the academy should give to its membership in use of the vaccine. The academy is a nationwide association of doctors who specialize in treating children.

The decision was made Wednesday at a special meeting in Quebec, Canada, of the academy's committee for the control of infectious diseases, and announced in a statement released in Chicago.

The resolution, adopted unanimously by committee members attending the Quebec meeting, said: "In view of the difficulties which have arisen with respect to the manufacture, testing, and usage of large volumes of poliovirus vaccine, particularly in regard to its safety and potency, and in view of the rapid approach of the polio season in most parts of the country, the committee for the control of infectious diseases of the American Academy of Pediatrics recommends that injections of this vaccine be discontinued for the present."

The special committee acted to determine what guidance the academy should give to its membership in use of the vaccine. The academy is a nationwide association of doctors who specialize in treating children.

Peron Declares Revolt Put Down In Argentina

No Count Of Dead, Hurt After Day Of Fighting; President Blames Navy

By FRED L. STROZIER
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — A bloody revolt exploded Thursday against President Juan Peron. Early Thursday night Peron declared it had been put down after a day of destructive air bombings and street battles that swirled about government house.

Many persons were killed or injured but there was no official announcement of their numbers.

"The fight has finished," Peron declared in a broadcast blaming the navy for the "infamy" of the revolt.

Argentine navy ships and planes were in flight to a refuge in neighboring Uruguay. Just before the first bombs fell the Vatican excommunicated the Argentine President as the result of his bitter months-long feud with the Roman Catholic Church.

Peron declared a state of siege and called Congress into session Thursday night to declare martial law. Such a resort could be only slightly more severe than the state of internal war that has prevailed since 1951.

The Argentine strong man declared that the Navy Ministry had surrendered and been occupied. The chief "culprits," he announced, were under detention, and only minor resistance points remained to be captured.

Two Argentine warships, including the 6,100-ton training cruiser Pueyrredon, were reported steaming to a refuge in Montevideo, Uruguay, 120 miles across the River Plate from Buenos Aires, with a part of the rebellious Argentine navy.

The Argentine navy has 2 battle ships of World War I vintage, 2 cruisers, 4 training cruisers and 15 destroyers.

Thirty-six Argentine planes, some of which twice bombed Casa Rosada, the pink Government House in Buenos Aires, landed at Montevideo, the interior minister there announced.

The refugee planes landed with 90 officers and men of the naval air arm and a sprinkling of Argentine air force officers.

The refugees reported that they had to give up the fight because their naval air base at Punta Indio was bombed and captured.

Awarded $112,291 For 12 Undeserved Years In Prison

NEW YORK (P) — A Court of Claims judge awarded $112,291 Thursday to 41-year-old Louis Hoffner as compensation for his 12-year imprisonment on a murder conviction that was set aside in 1952.

Hoffner, a bespectacled bachelor thanked Judge Frederick A. Young, saying: "I've got my freedom, that's the main thing."

Hoffner was sentenced to life imprisonment for the still-unresolved slaying of a Queens bartender in 1940.

A Queens County judge set aside the conviction after a five-year campaign headed by Edward J. Mowery, staff writer of the New York World-Telegram & Sun.

The campaign brought disclosure of minutes of a police lineup at which the state's star witness failed to identify Hoffner, although he did so later in court.

Spaceship Model Attraction For Soviet Youngsters

MOSCOW (P) — "But how will I come back from Mars?"

That's what the little boy asked a guide at the Soviet aviation exhibition Thursday as he looked at a gleaming, silvery model of a spaceship.

"Two big parachutes will open and let the ship drift slowly down when it hits the earth's atmosphere on the return trip," was the guide's reply.

The model is about five feet long and hung from the ceiling. It had an antenna-like protrusion in front of the two wings and big rocket expulsion holes in the back.

It appeared to be strictly out of science fiction and seemed to attract attention only from children. The guide's chatter was along theoretical lines. There was nothing to indicate this was a serious model of a spaceship for use in the near future.

Casualties were heavy, but no figures were available immediately. Peron said the main culprits had been detained. He urged the people to remain calm.

The government radio said the situation throughout the republic was normal.

Speaking in a voice charged with emotion, Peron praised the Argentine army, officers and conscripts, who rallied to his cause.

Peron spoke for seven minutes from the headquarters of his army command, presumably in the ministry of War.

After he spoke the state radio announced he had declared a state of siege and had called Congress to meet Thursday night to declare martial law.

A state of siege and martial law would cancel more of the civil liberties than the state of internal war declared by Peron during another revolt in 1951 and never revoked.

Just before Peron's broadcast newsmen at Carrasco Airport near Montevideo in nearby Uruguay, saw 20 Argentine rebel planes land there.

Navy bombers and fighters, as well as jet fighters from the Argentine air force, were among them. A refugee officer said the revolt failed because the army did not join it through some army units had promised support.

The revolt was signaled just before noon when a wave of four to six fighter planes attacked Government House and the nearby area.

About 2½ hours after the attack the government indicated the revolt was being crushed.

Then shortly after 3 p.m. a wave of light bombers and fighter planes carrying bombs renewed the attack.

Within eight minutes the general area around Government House (Casa Rosada) at least a dozen bombs fell, and enormous billows of black smoke rose from the vicinity of the Plaza de Mayo, in front of the government headquarters containing the President's office.

The casualties must have been numerous, since the area includes many public and official buildings. The National Cathedral is nearby.

The government's state radio had just reported that all but one unit of a rebellious naval arsenal had been defeated. It said that many civilians had been killed in the noon attack by planes from the naval aviation base at Punta Indio in eastern Buenos Aires Province. These planes swooped to within 300 feet of Government House. Two bombs struck the block-long rambling pink building. Another fell into the street nearby.

Pope Excommunicates Leaders Of Argentina; Bloody Revolt Follows

By FRANK BRUTTOK
VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church excommunicated the rulers of Argentina Thursday in a historic action quickly followed by revolution there.

Growing friction between church and state climaxed by arrests of priests and expulsion of a bishop preceded the drastic step.

The excommunication mentioned no names, but the Vatican made it clear that President Juan D. Peron and many — perhaps all — of the members of his government were cut off from the sacraments and fellowship of their church.

Vatican sources said the excommunication in effect broke diplomatic relations between the Vatican and predominantly Catholic Argentina and that this situation would prevail as long as Peron is in power.

Fighting broke out in Argentina a few hours after the excommunication. Neither the secretariat of state nor other Vatican authorities would comment officially.

Pope Pius XII was reported disturbed and saddened by the actions against the church which led up to Thursday's strong step.

The Vatican's declaration was issued by the Consistorial Congregation, of which Pope Pius himself is prefect. It was published in the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano.

The Latin text said all who had raised their hand against Bishop Emmanuel Tato, auxiliary bishop of Buenos Aires, impeded his work and participated in his expulsion, had fallen under excommunication.

The bishop, together with his assistant, Msgr. Ramon Pablo Novoa, arrived in Rome by plane Thursday night.

The excommunication declared that all who had a hand in the actions against Bishop Tato had at the time of their action automatically fallen under excommunication in the "zlatate sententiae," or broad sense. This is reserved in a special manner to the jurisdiction of the Pope himself, which means that any eventual pardon

House Gives OK To Dixon-Yates; Bill To Senate

WASHINGTON (P) — The House gave its blessing Thursday night to the Dixon-Yates power project as it passed and sent to the Senate a $1,372,122,800 bill financing government public works programs for the next fiscal year.

Upsetting its Appropriations Committee repeatedly, the House refused to approve funds for a new TVA generating plant at Fulton, Tenn., and substantially boosted committee allotments for reclamation, river and harbor and flood control projects.

It rebuffed the committee, too, by allowing the construction of a transmission line to feed power from the proposed Dixon-Yates private power plant to the Tennessee Valley Authority system.

This power would replace current which the TVA supplies to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Backers of TVA's public power system had fought the Eisenhower administration plan for the private Dixon-Yates power plant at West Memphis, Ark. They sought to let the TVA, instead, build its own federal steam power plant at Fulton.

Strike May Dock Queen Elizabeth; Halts Queen Mary

LONDON (P) — Striking seamen devised plans Thursday night to extend their spreading wildcat walkout to the Queen Elizabeth and freeze that giant liner along with her sister ship, the Queen Mary, in Southampton.

The 81,273-ton Queen Mary failed to sail for New York when 500 of her crewmen, mostly of the catering staff, filed down the gangway.

Her 1,175 angry and bewildered New York passengers, including many Americans, returned by train to London's Waterloo Station Thursday morning. Many were short of funds. Others dragged, tired, crying children with them.

All and were worried about hotel accommodations.

The 83,673-ton Queen Elizabeth, now on the high seas, was steaming toward Southampton. She is due to reach that troubled port Monday.

The strikers failed last week to halt the sailing of the Elizabeth, world's largest passenger liner, for New York. They said this would not happen again.

Senate OK's Extension Of Regular, MD Drafts

WASHINGTON (P) — The Senate Thursday night passed by voice vote, with little debate, a four-year extension of the regular military draft and a two-year extension of the special doctor's draft.

Both measures expire at the end of this month. Thursday night's action was a surprise move, decided on in an apparent agreement between Republican and Democratic leaders.

It turned down pleas of the Eisenhower administration that the Senate tie the draft bills into a single package with the administration's plan for a fourfold increase in the active military reserves.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee has opposed action on the reserve bill until it clears the House. The reserve bill has been stalled there for weeks.

Extension of the regular draft already has passed the House and the bill now goes back there for action on minor Senate amendments. The controversial doctors' draft bill is still pending in the House.

The regular draft permits the induction of men from 18 to 26 years of age for 24 months active duty. The doctors' draft bill sets up special provision for calling physicians, dentists and medical specialists into military service.

Russell told the Senate that this is the fifth time since World War II that the Senate had been asked to extend Selective Service, which he called the "keystone of our national defense."

"Without it our entire defense structure would fall," he said.

Russell explained that the nation now plans a regular force of about three million persons in the armed services for many years.

He said it would be impossible to recruit these forces without draft authority.

He said it was necessary to extend the doctors' draft, under which medical specialists receive officers commissions when selected by local draft boards, to assure adequate medical and dental care for those in the military service.

THAT LAMBSKIN IS SLIPPING

If anyone has had any real doubt as to the objectives of Moscow's great "sweetness and light" campaign in Europe, it should be removed by Russia's offer to normalize relations with West Germany.

Germany is the Soviet goal in Europe, and always has been. In the end most of the Kremlin's recent maneuvers will not have any lasting meaning if West Germany remains as a full-fledged Western partner. That is what the Russians want to prevent.

To establish diplomatic ties with the Bonn government would, of course, be merely preliminary. The point of that move is to give the Kremlin official access to the West Germans. Then they may propose to Chancellor Adenauer in Moscow, as they did to Chancellor Raab of Austria, measures affecting his country's future.

What the Russians evidently seek, short of a unified Germany they can dominate, is a neutralized Germany, either divided or whole. In other words, they want to draw the West Germans away from their growing Western orientation.

Adenauer already has decided to accept Moscow's offer to come there and consult if the Western powers agree. It would be extremely difficult politically for him to refuse such a meeting. His domestic opposition makes enough trouble as it is for his policies of alliance with the West.

But Adenauer would certainly go to Moscow in a wary mood. He knows that many enticements might be thrown his way. He also knows that they will not be offered without a price. And most likely it is a price he will not be willing to pay.

The German chancellor's current visit to the United States emphasizes that Germany's westward leanings are becoming more, not less pronounced. Furthermore, in his first comments on the Russian offer he made it clear he would not visit Moscow until after the proposed Big Four meeting.

The Western powers, now conferring in preparation for such a conference, expect to talk about Germany with the Soviet Union. But in its various notes on the meeting, Moscow has not mentioned Germany. It seems plain that at this stage it would much prefer to try to strike off an individual deal with the Germans themselves.

Adenauer, however, is not only wary but shrewd. He will have some embarrassing questions to ask the Russians. What about German soil now under Polish control? What about free elections, internationally monitored, for East Germany? What about the tens of thousands of German prisoners still held in Russia?

The Soviet Union is hurting badly over the prospect of a rearmed Germany in the Western orbit. It is using bold strokes in an effort to head off the fulfillment of this prospect. With imagination and firmness the West can counter these moves.

In collaboration with the tough-minded Adenauer, it should surely be able to match this latest Soviet stroke. The West is ahead in the struggle for Germany. This is no time to start losing the battle.

Boyle's Column

by HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Many people may wonder why science is trying to find a way to prolong the average life span to 150 years—but not Marguerite Piazza.

"The greatest fear I have is that I won't live long enough," said the young singer who turned from Opera to become one of America's top supper club entertainers.

"There are so many things to do, and so little time to do them in. I'd like to live 150 years and die traveling and still having fun."

Miss Piazza, who was named after a front porch and certainly presents a fine-looking facade, has a number of good reasons for wanting to live 150 years. She is happily married to a successful snuff merchant, she has three handsome children—and she earns up to $20,000 a week. Why not live forever?

There was many a lifted eyebrow when Miss Piazza, after a couple of seasons with the Metropolitan Opera, turned to a night club act in which she sang everything from Puccini to fast pulsing jazz numbers.

The eyebrows went even higher when, in the middle of her act, Miss Piazza changed her costumes right on the floor, behind the provocative barrier of a portable dressing screen.

Such antics by a typical over-stuffed operatic star of the past would be as painful to watch as an elephant trying to skip rope. But not in the case of Miss Piazza, who has a panther grace and beauty.

She proved so popular with the sophisticated patrons of the Hotel Pierre's Cocktail Room the management presented her with a gold key to her suite.

Miss Piazza says the change in style has been good for her personally as well as financially.

"It has given me more freedom," she said. "They are always telling an opera singer can't do that—it isn't dignified."

"But many people are afraid to enjoy themselves because of conventions that are really meaningless. Why should anyone say a song is boring, merely because it is either jazz or operatic?"

"But so many people had seen me only wearing crinoline and wigs they were getting the idea that I was old and fat."

Miss Piazza very definitely is neither. She is slender, dark-haired, black-eyed, and has a complexion like a freshly plucked rose petal.

A singer and dancer since the age of 2, she came here from New Orleans to carve out a musical career. She was at first so lonely and shy she was unable to force herself to call on producers to seek a job. Her mother, a determined lady, then arrived and took her daughter in hand.

Miss Piazza won star status after her first audition—has been a star ever since. Now she'd like to act in a Broadway play, have her own TV program, try the movies. But she has no wish to go back permanently to the limitations of pure opera.

"It doesn't offer you either the scope or the money," she said frankly.

Between engagements she flies to her home in Memphis. Her husband, William Condon, a vice president of the American Snuff Co., often flies to meet her on weekends when she is on tour.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employers, looking at the guaranteed wage plan granted by Ford and General Motors and faced with the possibility of union demands on them for some of the same, may ask themselves:

Would it be cheaper for me to agree to the same plan or try to take the steam out of union demands by trying to get the states to increase their unemployment insurance for laid-off workers?

President Eisenhower has complained states don't give laid-off workers enough unemployment pay. This year 26 states have boosted the amount.

The kind of guaranteed wage plan which Ford and GM just agreed to is a form of recognition that the states' unemployment benefits are too low.

Ford and GM emphasized the contracts they signed with the CIO United Auto Workers do not call for a guaranteed wage in the real sense but are a supplement to states' unemployment insurance.

All states have such insurance. But how much they pay, and for how long, varies. Some states will pay an idle worker for no more than 16 weeks. In some the limit is 26 weeks. And all states have minimums and maximums on how much they pay.

Alaska tops them all with a maximum of $45 a week for 26 weeks for a man with no dependents. Alabama pays the least: $22 for 20 weeks. Ten states give an unemployed worker an extra allowance for dependents.

Eisenhower urges all states to pay for 26 weeks. Ford and GM agreed to make their payments for a maximum of 26 weeks. Neither the states nor auto makers have shown any intention of making payments for 52 weeks of idleness.

The unemployment insurance is paid for by employers through a tax on their payrolls. In most states, employees make no contributions. Ford and GM will add a maximum of $25—the minimum is $2—to what their laid-off workers get from states to bring an unemployed man's total compensation up to 60 to 65 per cent of his take-home pay when working.

Ford and GM will now be making two kinds of payments toward unemployment benefits: the tax to the states for unemployment insurance and the supplemental pay they give their laid-off workers.

This double payment would be true for any employer who gave a similar contract to a union. If an employer tried to make the supplemental pay seem less necessary by pressuring his state to pay higher unemployment insurance, he might eventually have to pay more into the insurance fund through increased tax.

DR. JORDAN SAYS

Start Treatment Early for A Child Who Stutters

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

"I have a daughter who was 11 last year," writes Mrs. E. G. "About that time she started to stutter. I thought it would stop any day but it keeps on. She is a rather nervous youngster."

This mother wants to know what she can do to help her daughter. The fact that the girl is "a nervous youngster" perhaps gives the clue to the difficulty.

Certainly something should be done since the continuation of stuttering might be quite harmful to this young girl.

MOST COMMONLY stuttering begins at about 3 years of age and is fairly infrequent after the age of 6. The nature of the speech defect varies a great deal from person to person, but also from time to time in the same person.

However, whether the condition is serious or mild, it is the parents who are likely to notice it first, and it is they who can either take wise steps to overcome it or can handle the situation so that the stuttering becomes worse, more firmly established, and more difficult to cure.

At present, the idea that stuttering is inherited or even that there is a predisposition to it in certain families is losing ground, and the view that stuttering is a form of behavior reaction seems to be gaining.

THOSE WHO HOLD to the latter view feel that probably any child, if unfavorably stimulated, subject to conflicts, or frustrated in various ways, would learn to stutter. In other words, stuttering is a slightly abnormal reaction in a perfectly normal youngster.

The reason that early intelligent management of stuttering is so important is that when it first begins, parents may show irritation or become too solicitous, thus developing self-consciousness in the youngster. If this goes on the stuttering often becomes worse, until it is almost impossible to stop. Some feel, therefore, that in the early stages of stuttering, parents alone, if they have the proper advice, may be able to care for the situation.

Most young stutterers respond well and rather rapidly when the pressure from their parents or other aspects of their environment are removed, and if they have not become overanxious.

IT IS ENCOURAGING to point out that the over one million stutterers in the United States have greatly improved chances of proper treatment as the result of studies made in the last 25 years or so.

A number of experts in speech have been trained and can be consulted in many speech centers spotted around the country. A professional organization known as the American Speech and Hearing Association is active in this field.

A booklet on stuttering for parents and others concerned with the problem can be obtained from the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults (11 South LaSalle St., Chicago 3, Ill.). The chief point I want to make is that often much can be done for the youngster who stutters and this difficulty should not be allowed to run on in the hope that it will be eventually outgrown.

A Glance INTO THE PAST

10 YEARS AGO

A short circuit in electric wiring in the P. Bonansinga building on South Sandy street caused a small blaze that was quickly extinguished by firemen.

Victor Lockett, 77, of Prentice, died at a hospital in Springfield. A sudden downpour water put water over the spillway at Lake Mauvasterre. More than two inches of rain fell.

More than 1,000 persons attended the NESCO picnic at Nichols park.

20 YEARS AGO Burglars who broke into the Cowgaur Grocery on North Main street were forced to retreat when they broke a pipe on a refrigerator releasing gas.

The Zachariah Taylor Henderson farm near Litterberry was sold at auction to Mark Skiles of Virginia for $37 an acre.

N. W. Schirz of Franklin sold a load of hogs on the East St. Louis market of $9.90 a hundred. Rev. Marion Mansfield Hughes, 54, died at Virginia.

50 YEARS AGO Mayor John R. Davis appointed G. H. Dunavan chief of police and John Kennedy night captain of the Jacksonville police force.

The Jacksonville Meat company doubled its capacity at its packing house in Jacksonville. Twenty-eight employees were added to the staff. Dr. H. R. Dahman opened a dental office over Kuechler's Drug Store in Jacksonville.

David Livingston returned from Portland, Ore., where he attended the Lewis Clark Exposition.

DEER DAMAGE TREES

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Deer browsing on small trees planted in the state's reforestation program on the big Tillamook burn area have become a major threat to plans for restoring the timber, the Oregon forestry department says.

Fire used to be the biggest threat to timber, Forester George Spaur said, but now insects in the grown trees, deer nibbling the young trees, and field mice eating the seeds, have become major worries. In some areas, damage from deer is estimated at up to 80 per cent of the young trees.

Porcupines are another hazard. In the Lakeview area the Elks club offers prizes to boys and girls who kill the most porcupines. The animals eat bark from the young trees, causing heavy loss.

Foreign Aid Punching Bag To Get Workout in House

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP)—In spite of all the objections, American foreign aid programs roll on year after year.

Last year Congress ordered the Foreign Operations Administration liquidated as of June 30. But the U. S. Senate has now approved continuation of this spending under a new International Cooperation Administration in the State Department.

New funds of nearly three and a half billion dollars are authorized for next year. This is 800 million dollars more than was appropriated last year. It is some 17 million dollars more for technical assistance—than President Eisenhower recommended to Congress.

The battle now moves over to the House of Representatives, where the usual opposition to foreign aid is expected.

It will be argued that aid to "neutrals" like India and maybe Yugoslavia, too, should be cut off.

It will be maintained that iron curtain countries should not get one nickel of aid so long as any Americans are held prisoner by Chinese Communists.

FIGURES WILL BE CITED that the foreign aid programs have eight billion dollars worth of carryover funds and that therefore no new appropriations are necessary.

It will be patriotically declared that no American economic aid should be given to build up the industrialization of foreign countries so that they will become competitors.

These principal arguments will be backed up by recommendations made in the latest task force report from Ex-President Herbert Hoover's Commission on government reorganization.

The Hoover report recommends savings of 360 million dollars on nonmilitary foreign aid for the coming fiscal year. This is a little over 20 per cent of the 1.7 billion dollars economic half of the foreign aid budget.

It is noteworthy that the Hoover task force recommends no cut at all in the military aid budget of 1.7 billion dollars.

Also, it does not recommend that the economic aid program be completely discontinued. It merely wants the program reorganized.

Just what all of the previous for-ign aid reorganizations have cost the United States in the way of lost inertia and general confusion at home and abroad would be hard to measure.

GENERAL MARSHALL, as Secretary of State, thought foreign aid should be administered by his department. Congress wouldn't have it that way and set up an independent operation.

So after seven years of kicking the dog around under various names—ECA, MSA, and FOA—the Eisenhower administration and the Hoover Commission recommend that the business be put back in the State Department kennel, to complete the walk around the block.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles apparently isn't too keen to have this responsibility thrust upon him. John B. Hollister, designated as the new administrator of the program, hasn't revealed what his ideas on the subject are to be.

Anyway, it's their pup now. And what all this administrative juggling has accomplished is impossible to determine.

Friends of the foreign aid program maintain that it would have been far better to set a firm policy and then stick to it. This would have created more confidence in American intentions among the friendly countries being helped. It would also cause more consternation among potential enemies.

FOR AS THE HOOVER TASK FORCE report declares, and as the majorities in Congress always conclude after they've held all the hearings, raised all the objections and had them beaten down:

"... we believe that the government of the United States must continue economic assistance among certain free countries of the world in order to secure the maximum military security for ourselves and to take part in the advance of the living standard in the free world."

Incidentally Gov. Harold E. Stassen, who ends his term as head of FOA when it goes out of business June 30, will apparently quit the field with flying colors.

Many people hooted when Governor Stassen last November proposed a little Marshall plan for free Asia.

When all the shouting was over, however, President Eisenhower put this item in his foreign aid program and the Senate has now approved a 300 million dollar authorization to give it a start.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The bell rang and the actors came out of their corners. But this was no ordinary fight—they exchanged real blows.

After a couple of minutes of hefty slugging, the bell rang again. Even the hardened crowd of movie extras applauded the fighting.

One of the fighters, war hero actor Audie Murphy, sported red on his cheek. This was no make-up; it was the real thing.

He didn't complain. A stickler for reality, he had trained for nine weeks to get himself down to welterweight and into shape for his role as a boxer in "World in My Corner." He looked in top condition and was still slugging after three grueling days of fight scenes.

His opponent was well chosen for the role. He is Chico Vejar, not only one of the country's top welterweights, but also a dramatic arts major at New York University.

While Chico was in the ring, his manager, Steve Ellis, provided some background on the lad. Managing is "an avocation" with Ellis. He's also a top fight announcer, broadcasting the weekly bouts on ABC radio.

"Chico came to me about five years ago," recounted Ellis. "He said he wanted me to manage him. He was only 17 and had dropped out of high school. I told him the only way I would consider it was if he would return to his home in Stamford, Conn., and finish school."

Chico, who has Mexican-Italian blood, returned to school. When he was graduated, Ellis started him in as a fighter. His record has been impressive: Four losses in 68 fights. He's now in line for a shot at the title.

He has been called a TV idol, and that's part of Ellis' strategy. The lad has fought 33 times on TV, two-thirds of the bouts on network hookups. Says Ellis: "I think if a fighter is good and clean, he can look very good on TV and build up a following. If he's a dirty fighter, he should stay off."

His many TV appearances drew Chico to the attention of producer Aaron Rosenberg and director Jess Hibbs, and when they learned he was also a drama major at NYU, he was a cinch for the job.

COAL FIREMEN

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Owners of several old buildings donated them to let firemen set small fires and experiment with new spray methods of fighting blazes. The firemen had such a tough time getting fires started in one rain-soaked building they put off further attempts until a little sunshine makes the job less difficult.

Being 'Good' to Married Child Offtimes Is 'Bad'

Here is a letter that may be an eye-opener to mothers and fathers whose sons and daughters are marrying this June.

It is from a wife of five years whose husband's parents were so interested in their son's marriage and "good" to the young couple they came close to wrecking the marriage.

The wife writes: "My husband's parents planned our wedding day and had a hand in picking out our furniture and the house that was to be our first home."

"It was such fun for them, they kept saying I agree they were having the time of their life, but it would have been so much more fun for us if we could have done all those things alone."

"From the very first they weren't satisfied to know their son was happy, but they had to share each happiness."

"They showered us with presents. Each week they bought us something new for our home or something new to wear. Most people would say we were lucky. But I felt I was being smothered and that my husband's parents had a strangle hold on us they would never let go."

EVEN PUT THRID CLAIM ON THE BABY

"They were so 'good' to us they made us feel obligated to spend a great deal of time with them. Soon we even lost contact with our friends because with both of us working we only had time for our in-laws."

"When our little girl was born, they insisted on buying everything she needed. I would have enjoyed picking out her baby things, but it gave them so much pleasure to do it that I didn't protest."

"Then, since she was the only grandchild, they wanted us to bring her to their home all of the time so they wouldn't miss any part of her babyhood and so that they could show her off to their friends."

"Please, can't you write an article about parents who can accept the fact of a son's marriage but can't accept the fact that he is a man and the head of a family and that with his marriage the time has come to turn him loose?"

That letter tells the story of how what may seem like unselfish love and concern to parents can seem like smothering interference to grown children.

It might possibly keep other parents from doing too much for a newly-married son or daughter.

Broke Probation Rules; Sentenced To Penitentiary

Bernard Thompson, who has lived in several cities in recent years, was sentenced by Judge Wilhite to from one to two years in the penitentiary on a probation violation complaint, in Morgan county circuit court Wednesday afternoon.

Thompson's sentence followed a series of warnings by court officials, who said that he failed to refrain from entering taverns and becoming intoxicated.

The defendant pleaded guilty to a forgery charge Nov. 24, 1954, and was admitted to probation for three years. He was reprimanded for drinking, and on March 2 this year was sentenced to the Illinois State Farm.

On May 30 he got on a spree at Decatur, according to evidence presented by State's Attorney Albert W. Hall, and was returned here by the sheriff.

A probation violation complaint against Max Elliott of this city was continued until next Wednesday. Three alleged shoplifters, a man and two women, pleaded innocent when arraigned on grand larceny indictments. They are Herman Owens, Decatur; Sylvia Watkins and Judy Ann Moore, both of St. Louis.

The three are accused of taking articles from Little Mac's clothing store on South Main street several weeks ago. The women are out on bond, but Owens is a prisoner at the county jail. Their cases have not yet been set for hearing.

Charles Murphy of this city pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery and asked to be admitted to probation.

Blue Lustre Cited As Answer To Carpet Cleaning Problem

RUG CLEANING SOLVED—This attractive housewife solved her rug cleaning problem by using the new Blue Lustre cleaner. It is a foam cleaner that is described as leaving neither gum nor foreign residue in the pile of the rug or carpet.

Science is reported as providing the answer to the bothersome problem of keeping wall-to-wall carpeting bright and clean.

Blue Lustre, a product perfected after long research, is cited as doing the job better than ever done before, because of being the most outstanding product of its kind yet developed.

A concentrate, Blue Lustre mixes with water to produce a foam that brushes into the carpet. There's no soaking, and the pile doesn't sog or mat, and the result is that it dries open and fluffy. The final result is that the carpet gleams like new.

After the carpet has been cleaned from wall to wall, a new stain or traffic lane can be foamed away safely, as this Blue Lustre leaves no ring.

The foam is applied with a long-handled brush that is used while the user is in a standing position, just like playing shuffleboard. There is no hands-and-knees work required. Also, the original colors spring out like magic as the foam disappears into clean carpets.

Blue Lustre also is gentle and does not harm fine fabrics. It cleans Oriental rugs and overstuffed furniture as efficiently as it cleans carpets.

The product also is inexpensive, as one-half gallon of the concentrate cleans three 9x12 rugs. Blue Lustre is available in quarts, half-gallon and gallon sizes.

Butler Continues 'Peace Tour' Of Texas Eastward

by CLAYTON HICKERSON
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Chairman Paul M. Butler of the Democratic National Committee, pleased with his reception, took his "peace tour" of Texas eastward today after an invasion of conservative-voting Dallas.

Butler's efforts to iron out differences between feuding Texas Democrats apparently was bearing fruit, but there seemed just as much evidence that he had not breached the hard core of conservatism within the state party.

In his speech before 1,000 or more of north Texas here Wednesday night, he promised national committee help to defeat Dallas' republican Rep. Bruce Alger—the only Texas Republican holding elective office in Washington, and said that "Texas Democrats are capable of taking care of themselves."

"If given time they can settle all their differences by themselves without any help from me or the national committee," he said.

He also attacked what he called "the controlled segment of the Texas press" and singled out the Dallas Morning News. He said "that to put it mildly the News is not dedicated to disseminating the views of the Democratic party."

The crowd, which paid $10 a plate for a barbecue buffet dinner, applauded loudest when Butler spoke of "unity not unanimity" as his aim for the party.

In a Big Spring appearance Wednesday, Butler was greeted by Mrs. Hal C. Peck, vice chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, controlled by Gov. Allan Shivers, who led Texas Democrats to Eisenhower in 1952.

At the same meeting he received news that John McKelvey, a member of the loyalist Democratic Advisory Council, had resigned with the assertion that Butler's treatment of Shivers was "callous."

Butler declined Monday as invitation from the governor to meet for lunch in Austin June 20. In each of his Texas speeches, at Lubbock, Big Spring and Dallas, he has said he meant no "snub" of the governor but that his tight schedule, made in advance, did not permit the meeting.

Asked if he felt Butler turned down the invitation at the suggestion of the "loyalist" group, Shivers replied he was "forced to make that assumption." The governor has made no reported move to meet Butler.

The altar was decorated with baskets of flowers.

Preceding the ceremony, nuptial music was played by Mrs. Gordon Hankins at the organ. Her selections were "Because," and "I Love You Truly." During the ceremony

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a dress of white Chantilly lace over satin and a fingertip length veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, centered with a red carnation.

The attendant was Mrs. Donna Richardson, cousin of the bride. She wore a dress of blue net over matching taffeta, and carried a bouquet of red carnations, centered with a white carnation.

George Willhelm, Jr. brother of the bride, served as best man. The bride is a graduate of Waverly high school in the class of 1955. ### Shields Family To Finish Rounds Of 48 States GREENFIELD — When Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Shields and daughter, Miss Brenda Shields, pulled out of Greenfield in their car early Thursday morning, they had their sights set on a family travel record — by the time they return each will have visited every state in the union.

Mrs. Shields and daughter have already made the rounds of Uncle Sam's 48 children, but "Russ," it seems, had skipped a few somewhere in the northwest. So the family plans an extended tour through Colorado, Black Hills, Bad Lands, and back by the way of North Dakota, Minnesota, and Wisconsin.

Besides making the rounds of all 48 states the Shields family has traveled in Mexico and Canada.

En route home they will stop at Bradford, Ill., for a weekend visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Coach and Mrs. Don Luketich.

Mr. Shields, owner of the Shields Memorial Home, and Greenfield correspondent for the Jacksonville Journal Courier, was unaware that this log of his travels was being written, as he left to complete his "grand slam" of travel in all states. He gave the news department a slight clue, however, when he ordered his newspaper switched from his home to his son-in-law's address during his absence.

Mr. Shields is one of Illinois' best known basketball and football officials in addition to his other interests.

Shows Hand-Painted Plates

WHITE HALL — Mrs. Orin V. Duncan of Winchester was the guest speaker at the annual June luncheon of the Greene County Home Bureau held Friday in the Presbyterian church in White Hall. Mrs. Duncan displayed some of her gallery of 152 pictures painted on plates and displaying portraits, famous paintings, historical and geographical scenes. Most interesting ones displayed included a picture of a Chinese woman in native dress with an oval center medallion with a lavish decoration of hand painted gold dots on a blue background. Another unusual plate was a painting of a man on a hanging bridge in the Gorge in Arkansas. Mrs. Duncan states that her collections have been obtained through wide travels and the visiting of scores of shops and auctions. Her entire collection is washed twice each year and although the collection is large she is still searching for more, wanting especially Blue Boy and Pinkie plates. She began her collection while still in her teens and her first plate was of Lincoln Wedgewood Blue and was purchased at a general store. To be a collector according to Mrs. Duncan one must have enthusiasm, knowledge and endless patience to say nothing of money and a large house in which they can be displayed advantageously.

163 PHONES UNLISTED; ALL SAME NUMBER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The telephone company is receiving complaints because none of the city's 163 public schools is listed in the new phone directory.

All the school officials denied it was their fault. The district electric engineer, Herbert Friede, whose budget pays for phone listings, said he ordered it for "economy reasons." Each listing costs 25 cents a month.

Friede said he couldn't see any reason for listing the schools because they all are reached through the same number.

ENVISIONS FEMALE RULE

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — Mayor Charlotte Whitton looks to the future, and the male may not appreciate what she sees.

By 2055, the spinster mayor told the Ottawa Women's Press Club, she envisions a parliament where the women members will graciously look out for the rights of men.

She said she also anticipated the day when Ottawa will again find a man winning the mayor's office — a job she has held since 1951.

Modern Vermilion plant will help serve your growing needs

● A new source of electric energy has been placed in operation at our new Vermilion power plant near Danville. The huge 75,000 KW Turbo-Generator unit underwent exhaustive tests and was put in operation during the latter part of May.

This is the fourth new power plant built by Illinois Power in the last ten years to keep ahead of the constantly growing demand for electric service. Although this new generating unit has barely begun its many years of service, we have already started construction of another unit at this same location.

In these days of "electric living" we're planning years ahead for your needs in the future.

Wherever you live in Illinois, the new Vermilion plant will help bolster your electric supply. It is part of our long range construction program designed to keep us well ahead of your growing electrical needs.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Harvey Haddix, for the first time this year looking like the star hurler he was in previous seasons, shut out the Pirates on four hits Thursday night as the St. Louis Cardinals handed Pittsburgh a 5-0 defeat. Dick Cole had two of the Buc safeties, one a double.

Trucks Rolls Over Baltimore 8 To 0; Kell Batting Star

BALTIMORE (AP) — George Kell knocked in three runs on three hits to lead a Chicago White Sox batting spree Thursday night while Virgil Trucks pitched his second straight shutout and fifth straight victory by a 8-0 score over the impotent Baltimore Orioles.

Kell got credit for a fourth run batted in by walking with the bases loaded. He was joined by Nellie Fox, who raised his average to .347, and Walt Dropo who got his hit out of the 15th by the White Sox.

Trucks was reached for six hits and gave up four walks, but the Orioles got only four men to second base and none past it.

The main victim of the White Sox attack was Dee Pillette who gave up 11 hits and five runs before leaving with the bases loaded in the sixth inning. Joe Coleman walked Kell and gave up a run each in the eighth and ninth.

Kluzewski's 2nd Homer Beats Brooklyn 7-6 In 10 Inning Thriller

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ted Kluzewski's second home run of the game and his 20th of the season lifted the Cincinnati Reds to a 6-5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the 10th inning Thursday night. The hit was the first off loser Jim Hughes, who had pitched splendid relief since the sixth inning.

Terrible Ted's pair of homers tied him with Duke Snider of Brooklyn in the National League's home run derby. His first homer of the contest came in the first inning.

The loss out Brooklyn's lead to 10½ games over second place Chicago. It was the Bums' second straight setback at the hands of Cincinnati and was only their 15th loss of the season.

Hughes came in to the game in the sixth and retired 14 batters in a row until he threw the home run ball to Klu in the 10th. The victory went to Hershel Freeman.

Peeewe Reese sparked the Brooklyn effort with a triple, double and single.

Brooklyn opened the scoring with one run in the first frame on Reese's double, Snider's walk and Gil Hodges' line single to left. Kluzewski's 19th home run of the season knotted the score in the home half.

Jackie Robinson singled home two runs in the fourth. But the Reds utilized three hits, two walks and a ground out for three runs and a 4-3 lead in the bottom of the

Dixon's 4 Hitter Gives Phillies Win In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Philadelphia Phils blanked Milwaukee 3-0 for the second straight time Thursday on veteran Murry Dickson's four-hitter.

Dickson was tagged for a single in each of four innings but the hitter never got off first base, even when George Crowe led off the seventh with a single.

Only one Brave got as far as second and that was Crowe, who walked in the fourth preceding Chuck Tanner's single. Dickson gave up just one other walk, to Ed Mathews leading off in the ninth, but Hank Aaron fanned and Crowe hit into a double play to end the contest.

McIntire Moves Ahead In Co-Ed Golf Tournament

LAKE BLUFF, Ill. (AP) — Medalist Barbara McIntire, sophomore at Rollins College of Winter Park, Fla., squeezed into the semifinals of the 11th National Women's Collegiate Golf Tournament Thursday with a hard-earned victory on the 18th green.

Miss McIntire, 20, of Toledo, Ohio, nipped Virginia Denny of Chicago's Art Institute, 2 up on the final hole and needed a one-under-par 72 to turn the trick.

Another Rollins shooter, Anne Richardson of Columbus, Ohio, gained the opposite semifinal bracket with a 3 and 2 victory over Barbara Little, of Wauwatosa, Wis., and Northwestern University.

Lemon Wins Ninth As Indians Club Washington 8-5

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cleveland Indians mauled four Washington pitchers for 15 hits Thursday in an 8-5 victory over the Senators. The two teams pounded out 27 hits.

Bob Lemon gave up 10 of the Senators' 12 hits but won his ninth decision. Mike Garcia relieved him in the ninth.

The Indians hopped on starter Chuck Stobbs for a pair of runs in the first and were never headed. Cleveland added a run in the third and sewed up the game with a three-run outburst in the fourth, kayoting Stobbs in that inning.

All the Senators' runs were bunched in two innings, the fourth when two scored, and the seventh when three came in.

Cubs Bear Down On Giants 15-5

The Cubs scored 12 runs in the fourth inning last night and set the Giants down to their first defeat in Elk League baseball, 15-5.

The Giants led 3-0 going into the fourth and then the roof fell in the Cubs got six hits, five walks, one hit batter, and had the fortune of watching the Giants make two bobbles in the field.

The big 12 run inning told the story and Work, the Cub hurler, coasted to victory. Work, besides pitching a fashionable 8 hitter, poked a home run in the fourth. Wells, the Cub catcher and first baseman, also poked a circuit blast in the fourth.

BOSTON (AP) — Young Billy Klaus capped a surging Boston Red Sox comeback with a two-run home run in the ninth inning Thursday as the Sox defeated Kansas City 7-6.

Cox Tells Indians He Won't Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Billy Cox told the Cleveland Indians Thursday he intends to quit baseball and won't report to the Indians.

The 35-year-old infielder was acquired by Cleveland Wednesday in a trade with the Baltimore Orioles. Hank Greenberg, the Indians' general manager, said it's too early to tell just what can be done.

At Lopez, manager of the Indians, talked with Cox via phone Thursday at Cox's home in Newport, Pa. Lopez said Cox told him he has a sore leg and that he has been contemplating retiring for some time.

Cox was part of a deal which sent him and outfielder Gene Woodling to Cleveland in exchange for Wally Westlake, Dave Pope and some cash.

Westlake also has balked at reporting to his new club, the Orioles. He said he would talk with Paul Richards, the Orioles' manager, "and then I'll know definitely what I'm going to do."

If the players do not report within 72 hours, the deal would normally be off. However, it was considered possible that a flat Woodling for Pope and cash transaction might be consummated.

Yankees Score 3 In Last Of Ninth To Nip Tigers 3-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Blanked by rookie Frank Lary through eight innings, the New York Yankees erupted for three runs in the ninth to defeat the Detroit Tigers 3-2 Thursday and take the rubber game of the three-game series.

Limited to only five singles until the ninth, the Yankees tied the score at 2-2 on Yogi Berra's home run following a walk to Mickey Mantle. Then they climaxed the winning rally when pinch hitter Elston Howard singled with one out and the bases full to drive in Irv Noren with the winning run.

All Grains Down On Board Of Trade

By LAWRENCE N. ELDRED
CHICAGO (AP)—Soybeans fell as much as 3 1/2 cents a bushel at times on the Board of Trade Thursday. Grains and lard eventually followed, although more distant bean deliveries succeeded in making some recovery.

A government announcement the Department of Agriculture will sell 10 million bushels of soybeans at market prices set futures down right at the start of trading and kept them there until near the finish. The nearby July contract bore the brunt of selling.

Wheat closed 1 to 1 1/2 cents lower, corn 1/2-1 1/4, oats 1/4-1/2 off and rye 1 1/4-1 1/2 less. Soybeans were unchanged to 2 1/4 cents lower and lard was out 8 to 20 cents a hundred pounds.

The market's general decline came in spite of some news items which ordinarily would have been bullish.

The southwestern winter wheat belt had considerably more rain in spots overnight, accompanied by hard winds and hail. Harvest has been delayed far behind a year ago and yields reportedly are poorer in places than previously thought.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (AP)—Eastern buyers absorbed a third of the hogs offered Thursday and competition from that quarter muscled prices another 25 to 50 cents a hundred-weight higher. The top reached a new high since Aug. 27 at $22.00.

Quality was off in cattle arrivals and the market proved steady to 50 cents lower. Vealers were steady to $1.00 off and lambs 50 cents less.

Most choice butcher hogs sold from $18.25 to $21.75 and sows from $14.00 to $17.75. A few sows stood out at $18.00 to $18.25.

A load of choice and prime steers brought $23.50 but otherwise the best offers were good and choice steers and yearlings at $18.25 to $22.50. Good to high-choice heifers and mixed yearlings sold from $18.50 to $22.50.

A few young cows were around for $15.50 and a few high-commercial for $15.00. Bulls mostly brought $16.00 and below and choice vealers $23.00 downward.

In lambs a small lot of springers testing prime brought $25.75 while choice and prime offerings were $25.00 to $25.50. Slaughter ewes were steady at $6.00 and less.

Estimated receipts on sale were 7,000 hogs, 2,000 cattle, 300 calves and 700 sheep.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market edged up to another new record high mark Thursday but had some trouble doing it.

Profit taking appeared late in the session and continued to the close with enough force to back the market's progress considerably.

Aircrafts and nonferrous metals had the biggest hand in sending the market ahead, but their performance was dimmed by late selling.

Railroads were down at the close after spending most of the day with only a slight gain.

The steels at one time were well ahead, but they closed mixed. That was the situation with most major divisions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up only 10 cents at $170.70. It was higher by $1.00 Wednesday. The rise Thursday sent the average to another new record high mark, the seventh in the last nine sessions.

The industrials were up 50 cents but the railroads were down 50 cents while the utilities remained unchanged.

Volume amounted to 2,760,000 shares as compared with 2,650,000 shares traded Wednesday.

Stocks on the American Stock Exchange were mostly higher on volume of 1,040,000 shares as compared with 1,050,000 Wednesday.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Long-term Treasury bonds declined sharply Thursday, but the corporate bond market was steady.

Rumors that the Treasury will try to raise funds this summer by selling a long-term bond depressed most U. S. government issues now outstanding. However, over the counter dealers reported only light selling and a thin market.

Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed as "Big Board" volume declined to $4,720,000 par value from $5,510,000 Wednesday. Some convertible obligations were strong while others weakened. Investment quality liens were also irregular, though changes were small.

Unable To Contact

U.S. Ambassador In Buenos Aires

EMERGENCY WHITE HOUSE, Operation Alert (AP)—The White House reported late Thursday it has been unable to get in contact with the American ambassador in Buenos Aires since about 12:30 p.m. EDT. There has been revolutionary fighting in the Argentine capital Thursday.

The loss of communications with Ambassador Albert Nufer was announced by President Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, here at the President's Operation Alert secret hideaway.

Earlier reports to the state department said Nufer, a veteran career diplomat, was driving across Plaza de Mayo in Buenos Aires when the first bombs were dropped on Government House. The ambassador was unhurt. The embassy is about a block from the plaza.

So far as is known here, no U.S. citizens in Argentina were hurt in Thursday's violence.

State Senate Passes

Utility Tax Measure

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The last major item in the Stratton-Daley money raising program cleared the Illinois Senate Thursday with passage of a utility tax bill.

Meanwhile, the House wiped off its slate 200 bills in committee which were not likely to get attention before adjournment scheduled for June 30. Two administration measures fell with other prominent bills.

Topheavy Democratic support and strong downstate opposition marked the passage of the tax measure in a 28 to 17 vote. All negative votes were Republican.

Republican Gov. Stratton and Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago, a Democrat, backed the bills in the tax program.

It goes to the House to which the Senate already has sent proposals for allowing cities without referendum to levy a half-cent sales tax increase, for instituting a statewide, two-year half-cent sales tax boost and a 2 1/2 per cent state use tax.

The utility tax would permit cities who did not wish to levy the sales tax to impose on the gross receipts of firms selling telephone, gas, water and electric service a tax up to 5 per cent.

Utilities could ask the State Commerce Commission for an automatic rate increase if a city instituted the tax and the utilities wished to pass it on to customers.

Sen. Egbert Green (R - Pekin) who opposed the bill, estimated on the basis of Central Illinois Light Co. experience that the average customer might pay $10 a year in taxes on gas and electricity.

In the House, a motion by Rep. Peter Granata (R-Chicago) led to the customary death knell for bills still remaining in committee with a journalment only two weeks away.

Among the bills squeezed out of existence were proposals by the Stratton administration to reduce the Aeronautics Department to a division and to require payment of a 75 cents minimum wage per

Peron Says Revolt

Quelled: No Count Of Dead, Injured

For a time a pitched battle raged in the general area of Government House. About 2 p.m. six tanks and gun carriers rolled up to surround Government House, and armored trucks brought up soldiers, while bullets ricocheted off the pink walls of the building.

The tank-borne soldiers, aided by crowds of civilians, began dislodging rebels from the Plaza de Mayo and the surrounding area. The tanks, escorted by civilians, reached naval aviation headquarters, already besieged by hundreds of civilians.

Then, suddenly, came the second air attack on Government House. Fifteen minutes later, explosive and incendiary bombs still were dropping in the Government House area. At least one more direct hit was reported.

Jet planes joined the attack, indicating the air force might have joined naval aviation forces in the revolt.

Bands of workers ran across blood-splattered streets, waving their fists and shouting "Peron! Peron!" Ambulances slithered in and out of the crowd bearing away the wounded, and many other wounded lay unattended on the streets.

From the smoke-shrouded Plaza de Mayo and nearby areas, crowds streamed in panic while the planes roared overhead. Fighters and light bombers seemed to be swarming over the city.

The government insisted that the revolt was limited to the naval aviation units.

After the noon raid the government reported one plane had been shot down by anti-aircraft fire and that three others were forced to land.

Russ' Expressed

Desire For Peace Hope Of Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—The West is going into the four power "summit" meeting with Russia in the cautious hope that there may be some substance to the Soviet's expressed desire for peace.

The Western foreign ministers believe there is some chance that recent Russian moves may not have been entirely propaganda, otherwise would not have consented to the Geneva session.

Their attitude is based on a careful study of Russia's position, economic and political.

This was learned Thursday night following the first of two days of conferences by the United States, British and French foreign ministers.

The session was attended by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay.

They will meet with Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in San Francisco Monday to arrange procedure for the chiefs of state parley in Geneva starting July 18.

Most of the discussion at Thursday's session revolved around procedural matters.

So far as is known here, no U.S. citizens in Argentina were hurt in Thursday's violence.

June Primary Bill

At Death's Door In Illinois House

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Stratton's June primary bill, long ailing, was at death's door today in the Illinois House.

The House Elections Committee Wednesday recommended defeat of the Senate-approved measure by a 17 to 13 margin. Only a majority vote of the entire House now can get the bill onto the calendar, and keep it alive.

Democrats supplied most of the votes in committee against the bill, which would shift primaries from the second Tuesday of April to the second Tuesday of June. Some Republicans joined in opposition.

State Senate Passes Utility Tax Measure

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The last major item in the Stratton-Daley money raising program cleared the Illinois Senate Thursday with passage of a utility tax bill.

In the House, a motion by Rep. Peter Granata (R-Chicago) led to the customary death knell for bills still remaining in committee with a journalment only two weeks away.

Among the bills squeezed out of existence were proposals by the Stratton administration to reduce the Aeronautics Department to a division and to require payment of a 75 cents minimum wage per hour. Another competing minimum wage bill is pending on the House calendar.

The end also came to proposals to require government agencies to hold meetings open to the public in the so-called "right to know" bill; to regulate solicitation of funds for charity, and to create a quarter-million dollar drought study commission.

The Senate passed and sent to the House bills to:

Increase workmen's compensation and occupational disease benefits by about 18 per cent.

Require state elective officers to get competitive bids on service contracts and supplies over $1,000.

Set up an investigation of atomic power and its possible effects on industrial and other activities in the state.

Create a legislative commission to study possible plans for paying a bonus to veterans of the Korean War.

U. I. Trustees Ask Further Study Of Firing Procedure

CHICAGO (AP)—The University of Illinois trustees Thursday recommended for further study a procedure for the firing of employees who refuse to testify before legislative bodies on constitutional grounds.

Mainly under discussion by the trustees at Thursday's meeting was whether to use the word "may" or "shall" in the regulation passed by the university Senate last April.

The Senate, a body of some 300 made up of staff members of professional rank or over, passed the procedure with the following wording:

"If the individual refused to appear and cooperate in hearings before the committee or Board of trustees, his service to the university may be discontinued."

This refers to university hearings before the refusal of testimony before the legislative group.

Some of the trustees objected to the word "may," asking substitution of the stronger word "shall."

A motion was passed by the board to refer the matter to a special committee to work with the Senate on the wording of the dismissal procedure.

In other action, the trustees approved a ruling that "permission to anyone from outside the university to speak on university property or at a university function cannot be demanded or compelled as a matter of legal right."

The rule says that such permission "constitutes a privilege which the university, in the exercise of a sound discretion, may grant or withhold."

The trustees approved the establishment of a curriculum leading to a degree of "master of television" to be offered by the School of Journalism and Communications. This would provide advanced professional training in the non-engineering and non-scientific areas of television.

The next meeting of the board was scheduled for July 20 in Chicago.

Humans Give TLC As Mom Rejects Baby Kangaroo

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 10-inch baby kangaroo named Josie may not be able to get back in her own maternal mother's pouch but she's getting plenty of tender loving care from the human race instead.

Josie was the first kangaroo ever born in the Baltimore Zoo. Her mother, apparently disgusted because Josie has a limp, expelled her from her home. Josie can't get back of her own accord.

Arthur Watson, zoo director, has put her in the care of Mrs. Louella Earl, who feeds her with an eye dropper.

And Dr. Robert P. Wagers, a veterinarian, has discovered the reason for the limp—a tendon has slipped out of place on one hind leg. He thinks it can be slipped back in place with the application of a cast.

Congregational Leader Speaks At Conference

Dr. Vere V. Loper of Berkeley, Calif., nationally known Congregational Christian churchman, addressed a large audience Wednesday night at a session of the annual Congregational Christian Conference of Illinois, at Illinois College.

Speaking on the subject, "Congregationalism—A Personal Interpretation," Dr. Loper said in part:

"Open-Minded To Truth

"The thought structure of Congregationalism has been kept flexible. We have never frozen our beliefs into creeds which our members were expected to accept as a complete accurate conception of their faith. Our thought has been kept flexible that new insights might be incorporated into it. We have been open-minded to new truth from science and Biblical scholarship, believing that we could safely follow tested truth to make us free. We have tested religious truth by its accurate statement of the historical truth of our faith found in the Bible. We are 'people of the Book' even though our interpretations of the Scriptures are not always acceptable to others.

"In all the great crisis of thought in our denomination we have been guided by the thought structure which is flexible, open-minded, and scriptural. The Unitarians separated from us more than a century ago when we refused to abandon scriptural concepts of the divinity of Christ. We were led into modernism by our flexible open-minded acceptance of the fruit of Biblical scholarship but out of it again by the disquisition of scriptural truth into individualistic picking and choosing of what pleased us in the Bible. The return to orthodox in our day is passing because it tends to fix thought in old molds frequently impossible for many of us and distant from the needs of men. Yet this trend has called us back to abandoned historical beliefs and a deepening of the spiritual roots of our faith in the Bible.

Proud of Freedom

"Church organization and government has never been deemed of fundamental importance to us. But several general approaches to these matters are being given great importance. We are proud of our freedom, but sobered by the realization that it is always founded upon what we deem to be Christ's purpose in any situation. We are not at liberty to do as we please with church organization, but only to try to be true to the Christian way of procedure.

"We are endeavoring to base our governmental procedures upon the realization that church government is always a means and not an end. The end is to make Christ the only head of the church. We do not own our property, but administer it as stewards of God. We do not call our minister in the local church, but try to find the man whom God calls to the church. Our church democracy is a form of government, but also a spiritual technique. For us the best way to make Christ the church is to offer ourselves in the equal fraternity of a church as the channel for his direction.

We reverence the past in terms of the best procedures in church government but refuse to believe that we can discover how we ought to proceed by the history of how we have proceeded. If we are to meet the needs of our day, we must change church machinery as well as adjusting ourselves to new knowledge.

First Foreign Missions

We have been in the heart of the ecumenical movement before this fancy modern term was known. The pilgrims were on two continents and in three countries in the first 54 years of their life. Reaching out from the first to the Indians, they founded the first home missions and the first foreign missions in America. The American Board—our foreign mission board—was not a denominational organization, but a Christian effort to spread Christianity in all the world.

"The central line of the ecumenical movement for our starts in new members of our churches being trained that they are joining the church universe and not a denominational church in their town. It continues as we do things together, as we did with the Presbyterians as early as 1767, founding many of the pioneer churches of this area where we are meeting by cooperative effort. Our power is being joined with that of other Protestant churches into the Councils of Churches from the local community to the World Council. Our American Board is building churches and churchmen in all the world who have the new vision of Christian Churches as equal partners in world enterprise. We are devoted to a church which has no second class citizens or 'native churches.'

"In the total enterprise of the church, Congregationalists are being guided all along the line by the basic conviction that the main business of the church is to be the church. This centers for us in the local group who are bound together by a common allegiance to Christ and sense his Living Presence in their midst as the bond of their unity. The church not only has a mission but is a mission. We are only a fragment when we fail to carry out the mission of the church to preach, teach and conduct the sacraments or neglect to reach out in a social mission to build God's Kingdom in this world. The church to us is the entire congregation with equal dignity and responsibility resting upon every layman and laywoman as well as every minister."

Not A Scratch; Nothing But Injured Feelings!

Pillows Protect Child Hurlled From Car In Wreck On Rt. 36

Linda Lee Cary, two and one-half years old, cried for a couple of hours at Our Saviour's hospital Wednesday night.

Despite her flood of tears her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Cary, 3242 Eastbury avenue, Covina, Calif., thought she was one of the luckiest little girls in the world, and that they were among the most fortunate parents.

Linda Lee was hurled bodily from the family automobile at 8 o'clock Wednesday night in a collision a short distance west of Alexander, on U.S. Routes 36-54. She was picked up by the force of the impact, thrown out of a rear door which was jarred open, and dropped on the pavement—pillows and all!

The child was sleeping when the 1931 Chevrolet sedan driven by her father and a truck came into contact. Perhaps the pillows cushioned the child as she landed on the pavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Cary, who were traveling west, rushed their daughter to the hospital, where Linda Lee sobbed and whimpered. Solicitous doctors and nurses looked her over carefully. They didn't find a scratch.

The escape of the little girl from harm was considered almost miraculous by officials and others at the scene.

State Patrolman Clyde Vasconcellos, Jr., said Cary was attempting to pass several cars and got caught in the wrong lane of traffic. While attempting to get back in his lane a collision occurred between the California car and east-bound truck driven by Michael E. DeLashmunt of Monroe City, Mo.

Cary was fined $10 and costs Thursday morning in the court of Justice of the Peace Charles K. Warzar.

Death Ends Fun For 9-Year-Old

CENTERVILLE, Mich. (P)—Andy Huff and his pal Wally Bowman, both 9, were having great fun Wednesday on the George Rice farm.

Farmhands were feeding hay into a machine that poured it into a moving wagon. Andy and Wally were running alongside and climbing into the wagon to watch the hay pile up.

Later, back at the barn, Wally missed his friend. He told farmhands. They searched the fields. No success. Then Wally suggested they look in the wagon.

There, under a pile of hay, they found Andy's body. He had been trapped in the falling hay and had suffocated.

Man Who Saw Red Brutalities Addresses Lions

The guest speaker at the Wednesday evening meeting of the Jacksonville Lions Club was Victor Egger, business manager at the Illinois Braille and Sight Saving School.

In introducing the speaker, L. W. Rodenberg, program chairman for the evening, expressed the view that perhaps no person in this part of the country has had a more colorful experience than Mr. Egger.

Born in Switzerland and trained in engineering, Mr. Egger was sent to northern China by a Swiss-British firm to supervise the construction of various factories, mills, and industries throughout the interior regions and along the rivers and coastlines of the country.

When hard times and days of hardship and terror came with the invasion of China by the Japanese, Mr. Egger lent a helping hand to humanitarian efforts and was recognized by the International Red Cross for his services.

About the time America entered World War II Mr. Egger was appointed Swiss Consul for northern China and as such was soon made responsible for handling, as a neutral diplomat, all of the relief, refugee, evacuation and financial problems for the International Red Cross. Matters grew still worse after the Japanese surrender and the rise of communism. By the Yalta agreement between the great powers, all the modern fighting equipment belonging to the invaded Japanese was assigned to the custody of Russia, and Russia immediately turned it over to Communist forces developing in China.

Egger explained that this overwhelming increase in the forces opposing Chiang Kai-shek and the "temporary halting of aid to the Generalissimo from America forced the retreat to Formosa. When General Marshall was sent to China to arbitrate matters, Egger was among those consulted by him. Mr. Egger saw Communist brutalities firsthand and experienced bombings and personal dangers of every kind. He saw condemned prisoners forced to dig deep trenches and then, with hands tied behind them, driven into the excavation to be buried alive. His favorite servant was shot at his side in a bus which was attacked along the highway.

At last he himself was in such personal danger that he escaped and returned to Switzerland. He had been away from his homeland so many years that he found that most of his relatives had passed away. He visited an aunt in Beardstown, Ill., and found the midwestern countryside so secure from dangers of war and so inviting, that he decided to make his residence here.

After some time his abilities were discovered and he received an appointment to government work in Springfield, and more recently was named business manager at the Illinois Braille and Sight Saving School.

sale of intoxicating liquor to girls under 21 years of age, as it is now illegal for boys under 21 years of age, by immediately expressing their condemnation, of this bill, to their representatives before Monday, June 20.

6. Be it resolved that we disapprove House Bill 1099 now before the State Legislature which would remove the present liability for damage or loss of life, now imposed on tavern keepers or licensees who sell liquor to those responsible for such property damage or loss of life; and that we urge our members to voice their vigorous disapproval, of this serious weakening of liquor control, to their representatives.

7. Be it resolved that this Conference express its profound thanks and appreciation to all the people of the Jacksonville community who have contributed in any way to make this 112th annual meeting of our Conference a delightful experience and decided success.

During the conference, the following members of the local church were elected to state positions, Ralph Heiss to the Commission on Missions; Dr. Ernest Hildner to the committee on Student Religious Life, Dr. Deckard Ritter to committee on Church Promotion, Mrs. W. H. Pankhurst to vice-president of the State Women's Fellowship.

Dr. Vere Loper in his closing address directed the thought of his listeners to the theme of "Christ's Peace," which he said is not to be confused with complacency but is a challenge to warfare against all evils that disturb the peace of others, a peace that makes a man angry when he ought to be angry as well as content when he should be content.

The meeting was concluded with prayer by the moderator, after which the members of the State Board of Trustees held a noon luncheon meeting in Baxter Hall, Illinois College.

Bandits Inquire: "Ever Look In A Stove Pipe?"

Threaten Scott County Man With Pistol; Rob Station

WINCHESTER—Two bandits who held up and robbed Roy Allison, 45, a Scott county service station attendant, threatening to kill him if he didn't produce more money, remained at large Thursday.

Sheriff Frank Thomas said the pair escaped in a dark colored car, after the robbery early Wednesday morning at Ebaugh's corner, four miles north of Winchester. The sheriff said the bandits had a two hours' start before he was notified of the stickup.

Allison, night man at the station operated by Roy Bentley, was inside the building when two men entered about 3:30 a.m. and one of them threatened him with a revolver.

"Did you ever look in a stove-pipe?" one of the robbers was quoted as asking the attendant, as the gun was pointed at him in menacing fashion.

Allison had $11 in his pockets which the bandits took. They then threatened to beat him if he failed to come through with more cash.

A car drove in to the service station at this point, causing the bandits to flee. Before they disappeared they threatened to kill Allison if he called officers, also boasting they would "be back" to get him.

About two hours elapsed between the stickup and the first report, as Allison had a hard time getting a telephone.

He described one bandit as tall with dark curly hair; the other was about 5 feet, 6 inches.

Sheriff Thomas hurried to the service station, which is located near a motel where a number of persons were sleeping. Three transport truck drivers also were sleeping outside but were not aroused by the bandits.

State Employment Service Helps Student Workers

"The youth of our community are given special attention by the Illinois State Employment Service, L. N. Caldwell, manager of the Jacksonville office, said Thursday.

"In an effort to assist students who are taking the step from school to full-time permanent employment, employment counseling and testing is generally provided to each youth registering for work at our office.

This service is aimed at placing each new entrant into the labor market in a job for which he has the training, interest, and aptitudes," the Employment Service manager said.

Summer time workers—students who plan to return to school in the fall—are also helped to find employment for their vacation period. These applicants are usually placed in jobs as summer replacements or in jobs created by the seasonal need for additional workers.

Permanent workers and summer replacements for jobs in offices, plants, homes or on farms, can be secured by telephoning an order to the Jacksonville office of the Illinois State Employment Service.

Resume Stock Car Races This Friday Night

After a two week lay-off due to adverse weather conditions Stock Car Racing will resume this Friday night, June 17, at the Morgan County Fairgrounds, west of the city.

Wet weather last week closed all surrounding tracks. While stock car fans have been disappointed by the poor conditions drivers all over Central Illinois have been building up a full head of steam and are ready for action. With one month of the season behind them many drivers have wanted to make changes and repair their cars. The foul weather has given them time to do just that and a large field of fast cars will be on hand to provide the kind of action stock car fans have been waiting to see.

Jacksonville's splendid racing facilities are in first class condition. Local service organizations are always on hand at the concession stands. The Morgan County Track operates on Standard Time as in the past.

The MYF will begin its summer activities with a grilled hamburger fry at the home of Linda Lowe, 835 W. College, at 5:00 o'clock. All high school youth are cordially invited to attend.

Editor Takes Time To Condole Boy Over Loss Of Clothes Bought With Money He Had Earned And Saved

SYRACUSE N.Y. (AP) — Casey Jones answered a letter from a young reader Thursday. This is the exchange between the boy and the executive editor of the Syracuse Herald-Journal:

"Dear Mr. Jones:

"I am a boy ten years old. For the last few weekends I have been earning money at odd jobs. Saturday, June 4, my mother took me into the big sale at Dey Bros. and for the first time I bought myself some clothes with my own money. However, I wasn't happy for long, because somebody took my package when we stopped at Witherill's.

"I am hoping that between you and St. Anthony, some kind person will be moved to send back to me my two pairs of suntan pants and two sport shirts.

"Thank you. Sincerely, Kevin Walsh."

The reply:

"Dear Kevin:

"I have your important letter and I know just how you feel about losing the two pairs of suntan pants and two sport shirts that you bought with your own money.

"I say your letter is important because it reassures me on something I had begun to disbelieve—that boys still do odd jobs to earn money to help their parents, and themselves. You bought clothes with your money, not candy or a water pistol, and were very proud of it. You had probably figured out what you were going to say to your friends when they admired your new rig. I'll bet it was, 'I bought them with my own money.'"

"There is something magic about buying things with your own money, isn't there, Kevin?"

"Most men my age had to do just what you have been doing to get money when we were boys. Probably you did it just because you wanted to. But we had to if we wanted things.

"One summer when I was a little older than you, I worked as a waterboy on a sewer gang. The Saturday before school started, I had $50 in a cookie jar. My mother and I went downtown and bought all my clothes for the school year and there was enough left over to buy her a new hat.

"That, Kevin, was my proudest moment.

"I hope you can have that great satisfaction some day. I am sure you will.

"The other night at a dinner in New York City, I sat next to District Attorney Silver of Brooklyn. He is having a lot of trouble with gangs of boys who go around looking for trouble.

NEW ANGLE—If you're ever driving along East Shoreway, Cleveland, Ohio, don't be surprised to see Robert Miller—or anyone else—fishing in the middle of the road. The angling there is good because the highway bridges an electric company's intake from Lake Erie. All you have to do is drop a line through a slit in the concrete and wait for a bite. Opening is wide enough to take fish up to two pounds.

"He said he was convinced most boys get in trouble with the police these days because their parents do not encourage them to earn their own money and to work instead of roaming around picking fights.

"I agree with him.

"So you are my kind of boy, Kevin.

"It is discouraging to lose your first try at being your own man, but do not let that get you down.

"The boys who do what you are doing are the fellows who become real citizens when they grow up.

"It was kind of you to team me up with St. Anthony. But I am afraid I do not deserve it. He is in a class by himself in finding things.

"I remember our baseball team when I was a boy always depended on a boy named Stinky Dixon to find the ball when it was hit into Lyons Woods.

"Stinky would race back into the woods shouting:

"Dear St. Anthony come around, something's lost and can't be found."

"He always found it. St. Anthony was on his side.

"I'll bet he is on yours, too.

"Wait and see."

until some truly effective system of collective security is established.

Russia has produced ideas already about a European collective security system, but always appears interested primarily in getting American troops out. Under present circumstances Russia, to attack Western Europe, must also attack the United States.

There has been some talk of a deal whereby Russia might agree to collective security arrangements between organizations and groups, primarily NATO and the new Communist military group in Eastern Europe. That would include the United States and Canada on the Western end of the balance.

Some sort of an armaments level would then have to be agreed upon. Unless it applied to the arms industry, and to the creation of so-called "volunteer" armies such as the Chinese pretended to employ in Korea, Russia would be free, as Adenauer says, to pour strength into Asia.

And that would merely mean transfer of the most serious tensions from one place to another where the chances of defense would be much more difficult for the West and where there is already a far greater balance of Communist power than in Europe.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS

Chancellor Adenauer has taken advantage of his visit to the United States to remind everyone of one of the prime underlying situations which will be in the background at the Big Four meeting.

It is that settlements between the Communist sphere and the free world, to be safe, must be worked out simultaneously all over the world, not just in Europe.

Adenauer points out that any European agreements which would release Russian military strength from that area would mean that it would be available for use in Asia.

And Asia has long been known as the most immediate objective of international communism.

Many years ago the old Comintern laid its plans for the conquest of Asia both by political and military methods. Definite lines were laid down first for revolutionary preparations in what it then termed the colonial area, and then for the use of force as a clincher and as notice to the people that revolution had occurred.

In the case of China, the Reds used both politics and force at the same time, and then applied violent notice of the conquest through purges and reprisals.

Since then the Cominform has been promoting the idea that first the "colonial" areas of Asia and Africa will be separated from European connections, whereupon the economies of the imperial nations will be shattered and they will become sitting ducks.

Removal of Allied troops from Europe, including prevention of West German rearmament, is recognized as among Russia's prime motives in going to Geneva. Adenauer is insisting that they remain with the most advanced truck features the industry has ever seen!

Most Modern Trucks on any job

Only new Chevrolet Task-Force Trucks bring you the shortest stroke V8's in any leading truck and today's most advanced sixes—plus all these truly modern features!

They're the marks of a modern truck, and they out-date any make without them!

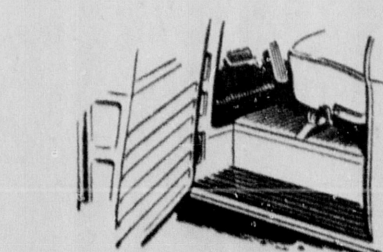

And they're the moneymaking, moneysaving advantages that ask this question: Can you really afford not to make your next new truck a Chevrolet? Judge for yourself!

Beginning with Work-Styling, an entirely new development in truck design. For the first time in any line of trucks, Chevrolet brings you two styling treatments—one for light- and medium-duty models, another for heavy-duty jobs. Here is styling with a meaning. Styling that's matched to the model and the job.

The latest in cab comfort and safety. Inside you can count on the same ultra-modern touch—softer seat action that reduces driver fatigue and more durable construction throughout. The new Flite-Ride Custom cab features the extra comfort of a foam rubber cushion and harmonizing two-tone inside. Outside, bright metal moldings and new two-tone color options. Both the De Luxe and the Custom cabs set whole new standards for comfort and convenience.

New concealed Safety Steps. They're out of sight with the doors closed. That way, snow, ice or mud can't collect to cause accidents.

New panoramic windshield. The windshield alone has 1000 square inches of safety plate glass to give you a wider, virtually unobstructed view of the road—and there's more glass area all around. A glass-guard molding completely surrounds the side windows, reducing possibility of breakage.

Fresh air in all kinds of weather. With new High-Level ventilation, air is drawn in through louvers at cowl level. That means air is constantly circulated through the cab, regardless of disagreeable weather conditions.

High-Voltage power—V8 or 6. You really have it modern under the hood! The new lineup of Chevrolet truck engines includes the shortest stroke V8's in any leading truck, and most advanced sixes. All have a modern 12-volt electrical system—double the voltage for quicker, surer starting and more efficient spark plug firing.

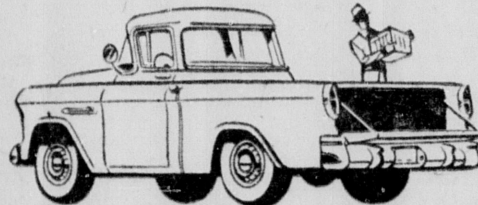

Tubeless tires standard on 1/2-ton models. Pickups, panels, Suburban Carryalls—all models in the 1/2-ton class now come with new tubeless tires. Here's greater blowout protection!

Every Power Helper in the book. Power Brakes, for example, are standard equipment on 2-ton models, an extra-cost option on all others. The new handling ease of Power Steering, another extra-cost option, cuts turning effort up to 80%. There's new gas-saving Overdrive, as an extra-cost option on 1/2-ton models . . . and truck

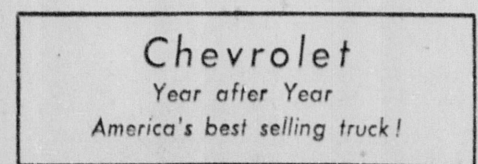

Hydra-Matic—ideal for stop-and-go city hauling—available at extra cost on 1/2-, 3/4- and 1-ton jobs.

The new Cameo Carrier. Long and low, with smooth, fleet lines, here's the Custom pickup that may well create a whole new class of truck owners!

And the final touch. Color! New colors and two-tone combinations add the final styling touch. Your selection is wider than ever before. Choose the color or combination that best calls attention to your business and take full advantage of the advertising value of your new Task-Force model.

When the time comes to trade in '55 models, the man without a really modern truck stands to take a good-sized loss. Come in and see us soon.

WARGA'S WALGREEN AGENCY

Four Generations Active In Crawford Lumber Co. Business

The Civil War had been over for two years and work as a farm hand was hard to find in the country surrounding Somerset, Kentucky. Since the older Crawford brother, Tom, had already gone farther North, Eli Crawford, in 1867, at the age of 16, decided to join him in Jacksonville. His luck was better here and he found employment on the farms.

Alert and interested in his work, Eli was appreciative of the improvements that were being made which helped the farmer, but his interest did not stop here. Windmills were a great timesaver, but the models on the market at that time were expensive. He believed an efficient inexpensive windmill could be built which almost any one could afford. Thirteen years after coming to the Jacksonville area Eli decided to make his idea a reality. In 1880 he built a frame building, 60' by 60' on the same location where the Crawford Mill is presently operating and started producing what was called a stiff wheel windmill and a companion product, water tanks.

"Painful" Memories
Walter Crawford, one of Eli's sons, often reminisces about some of his earliest recollections in the plant. At an early age he tried to "help" the men at work. Standing on a box to reach the machine, he used the big lathe for wood turning only to have his nose become a casualty of flying chips. In spite of his difficulties with some of the machines he continued to work and was soon able to keep up with the best of the workers. His proficiency increased until he could turn small spindles at the rate of one every minute and a half!

A nail on the wall was about the extent of the book keeping system used in the early days by Eli Crawford. These records burned along with the entire mill in 1893, leaving no definite information available from that period. To replace the frame structure a brick building was constructed and production was resumed. Millwork of a general nature became the primary interest and eventually windmills and water tanks were no longer produced. Many homes in Jacksonville today have stairs in use that were built around the turn of the century. Although most of the millwork was built for local use and in the surrounding area, one special order was shipped to South America.

Fire Sweeps Second Mill
In 1905, Walter Crawford, at his father's request, began active management of the business which flourished because of the large amounts of millwork being used in homes at that time. Production was again interrupted in 1913 when fire swept the second mill. Replacement this time was made with a larger structure which extended the full length of the block. About the same time the need for expanding into a more complete builders supply was evident. A year later land was purchased for the erection of a large lumber storage shed. Expansion continued and before long a second shed had to be built for a protective shelter of materials. A few years later a lumber yard in Virginia and another in partnership with W. C. Calhoun and Lester Gray at Alexander were added.

Like father, like son continued into a third generation and upon graduation from the University of Illinois School of Architecture, Lawrence Crawford started working with his father. Walter gradually retired from active interest in the company leaving the business in Lawrence's direction with a qualified staff to help. The small office at the east end of the mill which had been adequate when first built had proved far from sufficient in recent years. A year ago last spring a beautiful and spacious display room and store was built and completely air conditioned for shopping in comfort.

Although a fire last June 3 stopped millwork production and hindered progress in the completion of the new office, business in the other departments was continued and the first mill machine was again in operation by July 17. Power tools, farm supplies, plumbing and electrical goods were added to paint, hardware, kitchen cabinets and building materials to make the new store a complete one stop shopper's service. A pleasant nook was set aside where one can browse through plan books at his leisure without disturbance and yet have expert consultation at hand.

A New Generation

Lawrence Jr., recently home from military service in Germany, has helped in the mill since he was ten years old and plans to follow in his father's footsteps after finishing his college work in the combined fields of architecture and lumber yard management.

Any organization takes pride in the length of time it has been in operation serving the public. Hand in hand with this are those who have made the service possible, the employees. The late John R. Fernandes was such a man devoting over 50 years to the company as a fine cabinet craftsman. Leslie Franz is now in his 46th year of making quality millwork and Miss Verna Butcher has been managing the secretarial work for 36 years. Eight years ago, Harry Lair began working in the office and now plays a large part in the management. An efficient supporting staff includes: Fred Kearns, George Dickerson, Laurence Winters, and John Kearns.

U.N. Celebrating 10th Anniversary June 20 Is Not All Dry Debate And Resolutions

Editor's Note—The United Nations will meet in San Francisco beginning June 20 to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the signing of the U. N. Charter. In the following story the AP's chief U. N. correspondent reviews some of the high spots and lighter moments of the organization's first decade.

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — The U. N. is not all dry debates and resolutions. In its 10-year history, it has had its share of dramatic moments, colorful personalities and amusing incidents.

That's one reason the glittering skyscraper headquarters of the world organization has become the greatest tourist attraction in New York. Sometimes the visitors see a show as good as anything on Broadway.

Such an occasion was the day in 1946 when Russia's solemn-faced Andrei Gromyko stalked from the Security Council chamber in his famous walkout; or that day in 1947 when the General Assembly, after months of study and debate, voted to divide Palestine between the Arabs and Jews.

There were many big days that stand out in memory: the 1950 meetings of the Security Council which put the U. N. into the Korean War and which later saw Russia's Jacob A. Malik paralyze the council by procedural maneuvers for an entire month; the day the first secretary general, Trygve Lie, announced he was resigning; the day the Assembly was shocked by the announcement that one of its most famous members, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, had died; the day President Eisenhower announced his atom-for-peace plan.

The U. N. has provided a stage for leading statesmen of the day: Presidents, kings, movie stars and giants of the business world have made at least a fleeting appearance here.

One of the most colorful men ever to visit the U. N. was the former Prime Minister of Iran, Mohammed Mossadegh, since overthrown and imprisoned. The aged Mossadegh, famed for his pink pajamas and his fits of weeping, came to New York in 1951 to address the Security Council on the British-Iranian oil dispute.

Thin, hatchet-faced and frail, Mossadegh put on a good show for a capacity house—and for millions of American television viewers as well—but he failed to live up to expectations.

He wore a sedate blue suit instead of pajamas. He didn't faint once during his several appearances. There was no weeping.

Another Iranian, handsome Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, gave the U. N. a moment of amusement a few years later. His crowded program of speeches in New York included an address to the assembly.

He took his place solemnly before the diplomats of 60 nations, pulled a folded paper from his pocket, opened it and began speaking. He had read only the first few words before the audience realized something was wrong.

Instead of beginning with the usual introduction "Mr. President, Mr. Secretary General and honorable delegates" it started off with greetings to a New York luncheon group. The Shah didn't get flustered. He simply smiled and said: "Wrong speech." Then, amid the burst of laughter, he folded the paper, took out another and began reading the correct speech.

Walker-Guthrie Reunion Held At White Hall

WHITE HALL — The sixteenth annual Walker-Guthrie reunion was held Sunday in the Lions Park with a picnic dinner in the Shelton house with sixty-nine in attendance from Pana, Great Lakes, Owenoco, Cottage Hills, Greenfield, Hettick, Rockbridge, Roodhouse and White Hall.

WILL EYE VACCINES — Dr. Carl L. Larson, director of the Rocky Mountain laboratory of the National Institute of Health, will head its new Division of Biologics Standards. Problems the new division will deal with include those of virus vaccines.

Mrs. Ellen Smith of this city was the oldest member present and the youngest was David Imel of Hettick. There were four deaths during the past year, Ed Phillips, Beardstown; Mrs. Fefa Dawdy, White Hall; Mrs. Elna Talkington, Farber, Mo.; and Johnny R. Forbes. Five births and two weddings were reported. A program of musical selections was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hansen and Darlene Horney and readings by Mrs. Eunice Guthrie.

Officers re-elected for the ensuing year are William McCarthy, president; Mrs. Tessie Hudson, vice president; Mrs. William McCarthy, secretary-treasurer.

One sixth of the population of Indiana now lives on farms.

Good Attendance At Summer Bible School In Bluffs

BLUFFS — The first week of the Bluffs Daily Vacation Bible school ended Friday. A very good attendance has been had throughout the week, the average being 90 plus. The school will close Friday morning and there will be a program at the Methodist church on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, standard time, June 17. Everyone is invited to attend.

Three of the workers in the school were unintentionally omitted in the account in the paper last week. They are Rev. Harold Dodson, Rev. Karl Kuskevic and Mrs. S. L. Murdock, all faithful workers in the school.

The theme of the school is "Personal and Group Relationships" and is the first in a six year course planned and recommended by the Illinois Council of Churches. Each morning the two hour session is divided into devotions, music, lesson study, handwork and recreation.

Mr. and Mrs. N. V. Whorton and daughters are enjoying a vacation with their parents in Oklahoma. Mrs. Carroll Sears and Mrs. Marvin Rierman, local Girl Scout leaders, and three scouts, Judy Orchard, Donna Six and Sharon Dodson, have returned home from a three day camping trip to the Girl Scout camp on Lake Jacksonville.

Rev. Harold Dodson is attending the 132nd Annual Conference of the Methodist churches in Jacksonville. His parents from Hartford are house guests at the parsonage. Mrs. Harold Oakes and Mrs. F. J. Muntman, delegates from the Bluffs church, are also attending a number of the sessions.

THE car came to a full stop. She heard him turn off the ignition and open his door and step out, then he swung the half of the front seat forward away from her, and she knew he must be standing there looking in to see if she had recovered consciousness yet.

She kept her eyes closed and tried to make all her muscles limp as she supposed an unconscious person would be.

She felt his hands on her shoulders lifting and pulling her roughly out, and she moaned faintly and fluttered her eyelids as convincingly as she could, staggering on the ground as he held her upright when she was out of the car, letting her eyes open wide as though she had just recovered consciousness, shrinking away from him and crying pitiably:

"Where am I? What happened? My head hurts dreadfully. Who are you? I never saw you before."

"Never mind who I am," He shook her roughly and shoved her back against the car. "You're Lucy Hamilton. Mike Shayne's secretary."

There was only one house visible. A large, three-story mansion on the right, built directly on the bluff overlooking the bay. There were no lights and the front windows were boarded up with wooden shutters the way many winter residents leave their homes during the summer and the early autumn hurricane season.

He laughed evilly as he saw her looking around in an attempt to orient herself, and said in his grating southern voice, "Take yourself a good look, Ma'am. Then start screaming your fool head off if you're a mind to. Won't nobody hear you. Won't an open door into a corridor, and down a passage to another door at the rear which opened onto a flight of wooden steps leading downward.

When they reached the bottom, he flashed the beam of his light around all four sides to show there were no windows, no other opening or means of egress except up the stairs.

"Just so you'll know for sure how things stand, Ma'am. You're gonna sit down and write a little note to your boss telling him just exactly how things are with you, and then I'm going to tie you up tight and leave you here to rot with your friend I mentioned."

AS he spoke he lowered the beam so it shone on a female figure bundled up with ropes on the ground near the wall. Her mouth was plastered tightly shut with surgeon's tape, and her face was white and haggard and desperate in the flashlight's gleam, but Lucy Hamilton had no difficulty at all in recognizing Arlene Bristow.

He swung the light away from Arlene's face with an evil chuckle and told Lucy, "She's been here keeping right quiet and good since before dark, and hasn't died for lack of air yet. Howsomever, with two of you down here breathing up the oxygen and with that door at the top of the stairs shut tight and locked, I don't for sure know how long you'll last."

"Just think about how it is when you start writing your boss that note. Think how long it'll take you and your friend to die from lack of water or starvation locked up down here if Mister Mike Shayne is crazy enough to try and set another trap for me. Tell him just how things are with you if he doesn't cough up that 70 grand he got from Jack Bristow."

"But I tell you he didn't get it," said Lucy desperately.

"No matter about that now. I don't care if he did or not. I got you right here where I want you, and you're going to rot here unless he pays up."

Rev. Pruett Of Carrollton Will Move To Auburn

CARROLLTON—The Rev. Walter B. Pruett, who has been pastor of the Carrollton Methodist church for the past 5 years, was transferred by action of the Illinois Methodist Conference in Jacksonville to the pastorate of the Methodist churches in Auburn and Thayer, and will begin his work there Sunday.

The Rev. Pruett will be succeeded in the local church by the Rev. Robert Pitsch, who has pastored the Methodist church in Mazon for the past six years, and who will begin his ministry here Sunday. During the five year ministry of the Rev. Pruett 91 new members have been received into the church, 16 members have died and 20 have transferred to churches in the towns in which they now reside. The average church attendance has grown from 89 the first year to 106 at the present time. The Rev. and Mrs. Pruett and their two daughters will move to Auburn to make their home in the near future.

The Rev. Pitsch did his seminary work at Garrett Biblical Institute which is connected with the Northwestern University at Chicago. He

Kathryn Crafton Of Chandlerville G. Watkins, Wed

CHANDLERVILLE—Miss Kathryn Crafton, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Crafton of Mason county and Gerald Watkins, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Watkins of Chandlerville, were united in marriage at seven o'clock Wednesday evening, June 8, at the Sangamon Valley Presbyterian church parsonage.

The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. B. F. Pickering.

KIT BOOSTS MORALE, BUT GETS FEW FISH

TORONTO (AP)—RAF Squadron Leader D. G. V. Whittingham says the tackle in sea survival kits catches few fish because the fellows using it usually are not good anglers. He told a meeting of experts from eight nations meeting here on survival problems: "Fishing kit is supplied mainly because of its psychological benefit to the airman."

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (AP)—Three remote-controlled jet traps have been installed across runways of Republic Aviation Corp. here to brake taking-off or landing jet fighters in emergencies.

By a push of a button from the control tower, a nylon mesh strip lifts from the runway, catches the speeding plane's nosewheel, and in turn causes a steel cable to catch the plane's main landing wheels. The cable is attached to 36 tons of anchor chain whose sheer drag brakes a plane speeding 150 miles an hour to a halt in 600 feet.

Maybe you'd better see for yourself why folks just won't do without this great car

PEOPLE say success makes success—but we say people make success, and how!

It's people—just like you—who are snowballing Buick sales this year to an all-time peak.

It's people—just like your neighbors down the street—who are snapping up these gorgeous new Buicks almost as fast as we get them from the factory, and causing Buick production to climb to new levels every month, to handle the unparalleled demand.

And it's people—just about from every walk of life—who keep Buick sales soaring without letup—and who have moved Buick more solidly than ever into the charmed circle of America's top best sellers.

But why? Why this phenomenal swing to Buick on the part of people who can choose any new car?

Because Buick's a buy—definitely.

And because it's a bold beauty that catches the eye and holds it—that's for sure.

And certainly because it's supremely level of ride—and a sweet joy to handle—and a mighty bundle of high-voltage

V8 power to melt away the miles and the high hills.

But most of all, because Buick this year is a performer like no earth-bound vehicle ever was before...

Because Buick—and only Buick—has the airplane-principled magic of Variable Pitch Dynaflo* where you switch the pitch for big gas savings in cruising—or for whip-quick getaway response and acceleration when you need a sudden safety-surge.

It's sheer thrill, and pure pleasure, and a big boon to your gasoline budget—and you really ought to try it.

Come visit us soon—this week, at the latest—and see for yourself why this is the car folks just won't do without—the biggest-selling Buick of all time.

*Dynaflo Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.
